

Bio- and bibliography

Work experience:

2012 Assistant Professor (DPhil), Greek language and its history, Department of Classics, Faculty of Philosophy, Belgrade University

2004 Lecturer (MA), Greek language, Department of Classics, Faculty of Philosophy, Belgrade University

2000 Teaching Assistant, Greek language, Department of Classics, Faculty of Philosophy, Belgrade University

Education:

2011 Faculty of Classics, Oxford University: DPhil in Classical languages and literature

2003 Department of Classics, Faculty of Philosophy, Belgrade University: MA in Classics

1999 Department of Classics, Faculty of Philosophy, Belgrade University: BA in Classics

Courses taught:

Greek language (grammar and reading classes)

Historical grammar of Greek language

Ancient philosophy (Presocratics)

Text and Context (Jesus College, Oxford University)

Selected publications:

1) "Heraclitus' fragment B52 re-examined", Proceedings of the Fifth Symposium Praesocraticum, Cambridge 2014 (accepted for publication)

2) "A commentary on αἰών in Pindar", Lucida intervalla 42 (2013), 7-28

3) "Some representations of time in early Greek literature", Aspects of time in literature (Proceedings of the Institute for literature and art, Belgrade 2012), 15-32 [in Serbian]

4) with M. Arsenijević and G. J. Massey, "A New Reconstruction of Zeno's Flying Arrow", Apeiron (Journal for Ancient Philosophy and Science, University of Texas) 41/1 (March 2008)

5) "What is 'real' in the Greek first class conditionals? Problem history, examples and possible solutions", Lucida intervalla 32/2 (2005), 5-23 [in Serbian]

Sandra Šćepanović (Kula, 22. 06. 1974.)

6) "Possible meanings of apeiron in Anaximander", Theoria XLII 3-4, 1999, 7-27
[in Serbian]

Conference and seminar talks, visiting lectures:

2008 Universities of York, Warwick and Oxford, Ancient philosophy seminars, with M. Arsenijević and G. J. Massey

2012 University of Cambridge, Symposium Praesocraticum

2013 Friedrich Schiller Universität Jena, guest lectures at the Department for Indo-European studies

2014 The fourteenth congress of the FIEC (International Federation of the Societies of Classical Studies)

Fields of interest:

Greek language and literature, Presocratic philosophy, History of ideas